Postmodernism is a broad movement that developed in the mid- to late 20th century across philosophy, the arts, architecture, and criticism and that marked a departure from modernism. The term has also more generally been applied to the historical era following modernity and the tendencies of this era. (In this context, "modern" is not used in the sense of "contemporary", but merely as a name ...

(last updated 06/06/2010; current count is 248 philosophers). To give you a brief sketch of contemporary philosophy of religion, here's a list of 200+ living philosophers of religion who publish in English, along with a few of their most significant books/papers in philosophy of religion. (I've listed a few people who aren't philosophers of religion but who have published at least one ...

200+ Living Philosophers of Religion and Their Best Work

I tend to think it was the democratic spirit that produced the enormous intellectual productivity of the Greek world. Alexander the so-called Great was the most important factor in the process of killing it (by re-establishing monarchy), but it took a long time for the effects of the political changes to carry over into the intellectual scene (in the short term, the diversion of talented ...
