Recently I was working on updating a legacy application to MVC 4 that included free form text input. When I set up the new site my initial approach was to not allow any rich HTML input, only simple text formatting that would respect a few simple HTML commands for bold, lists etc. and automatically handles line break processing for new lines and paragraphs.

I'm fascinated by the differences between rich people and poor people. Are the differences mostly a matter of class and economic mobility? Are people born to wealth and poverty and destined to remain there? Or are there observable differences in attitude and action that tend to lead people to specific levels of affluence? From my experience, it's some of both.

The real estate market has fallen sharply over the few years ago. The prices have fallen in all states especially in California, I believe Los Angeles was the most affected city, I think rich people will start thinking about staying at the Small Luxury Hotels

Los Angeles instead of buying properties at loss. They can enjoy the elegance of the place, the warm hospitality & the charm.
