The Euler spiral, also known as Cornu spiral or clothoid, is the curve generated by a parametric plot of $(\int_0^x \sqrt{t} dt)$ against $(\int_0^x t^2 dt)$. The Cornu spiral was created by Marie Alfred Cornu as a nomogram for diffraction computations in science and engineering. From the definitions of Fresnel integrals, the infinitesimals are thus: $dx = \sqrt{x} dx$, $dy = x dx$. Thus the length of the spiral measured from ...
